WE NOMINATE

Frank Wallace Notestein, whose concern with "the ever-shifting human contents of the world" has made this community an internationally known center of population research, a center to which the United Nations, the Department of State, UNESCO and such statistical agencies as the Bureau of the Census turn for assistance on population matters. Anything but an academician, Notestein in the past 17 years has succeeded in organizing and developing a unique office that has undertaken research projects in all parts of the world and has broadened man's understanding of problems bearing upon the "secrets of war and peace."

Professor of Demography as well as Director of the University's Office of Population Research, established in 1936 within the Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Notestein possesses an amazing knowledge of the earth's "critical areas." In 1948, for instance, he headed the Rockefeller Foundation's Survey Group of Public Health and Demography in the Far East, an undertaking that took him to China, Japan, the Philippines and Indonesia. Two years earlier he had been called upon to create the Population Division of UN.

Pakistan, Puerto Rico, France, Formosa—all fall within the scope of his office's functions. During World War II, with sections of the League of Nations headquartered here, Notestein and his associates worked closely with the League in preparing studies of postwar questions. One of them, "The Future Population of Europe and the Soviet Union," shook observers right down to their heels and was described as a publication which will be combed for years to come by "the prophets" in the realm of international affairs. Following the war, the Office's—and Notestein's—attention shifted to the problems of industrially underdeveloped areas in the Far East and Latin America.

It was as a graduate student at Cornell that Notestein, now 50, a native of Alma, Mich., and a graduate of Wooster College, chose population problems as his area of concentration. Some two decades later he was to serve as Chairman of the Technical Advisory Committee on Population for the 1950 U. S. Census, as an officer and prominent member of learned societies and as one of the 36 participants in M.I.T.'s Mid-Century Convocation on "The Social Implications of Scientific Progress." Last year he was among the 11 scholars "of the highest competence" invited to contribute to an unusual commemorative conference devoted to "Facing the Future's Risks."

For helping bridge the gap between university scholarship and the needs of a changing world; for leading the way in a field touching upon a variety of social problems; for meriting the designation, "one of the world's most important students of population"; he is the Editors' nominee for Rent Controls to Go. Unless the federal or state governments take action by the end of the month, rent controls will expire in the borough on April 30. Controls were lifted in the township last September. The unanimous decision by the mayor and council was supported by letters from property owners and realtors asserting that the shortage of rentals in the borough is largely traceable to present ceilings.

Park Deal Is Favored. Acquisition by the borough of a large portion of the former Marquand estate for public use is likely to occur if present thinking on the proposal continues. The mayor and council are favorably disposed toward the plan, with a few basic points still to be settled.

A primary decision is the route that Elm Road will follow if and when it is extended to meet Springdale Road, as advocated in the borough's master plan. Restrictions on the public's use of the property are also to be elminated by council if the tract is accepted. Letters from the Council of Community Services, the Girl Scout Council and various individuals are in Borough Hall backing the proposal.

Interest High in Primaries. The most wide-open gubernatorial primary in New Jersey history and a hotly-contested political battle in Princeton Township face the voters of this community on Tuesday. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.; unless the telephone strike is ended, it is suggested that inquiries on election results be made only in person at TOWN TOPICS, either Tuesday night from 8:30 to 11, or Wednesday morning.

Because of heavy turnouts in the past, and with an eye to those who cannot go to the polls until near the closing hour, three additional voting machines will be installed at the Valley Road School in the township. Districts one, two and four will so benefit.

While the balloting there is not expected to be as heavy as it was for the presidential election last fall, indications are that interest is running particularly high for an April primary. Pre-election activity has been unusually great as Frederick J. Worthington campaigns to replace Bertrand L. Gulick, Jr., the Republican incumbent.

Mr. Gulick, 56 years of age, active in real estate and insurance here for nearly 30 years and a member of the township committee both before and after World War II, is seeking a fifth term. His pre-election statement this week included a list of more than a score of road repair and construction projects completed while he has been an office holder, as well as bridge improvement projects, hydrant and street light installations, shade tree planting and acquisition of new equipment for the police and public works departments.

Assistance in the passage of beneficial zoning, as well as in creation of employment opportunities, particularly in the construction of the Institute for Advanced Study and the RCA Laboratories.

Would You Scrub a Floor With a Tooth Brush?

Of course not, yet you might be using a tooth brush in your mouth, that FEELS stiff enough for such a job.
Are you needlessly punishing yourself with tooth brushes that mangle instead of massage your sensitive gums?
WHAT IS A GOOD TOOTH BRUSH?
It's good if, with your help, it cleans teeth AND massages gums WITHOUT LACERATION.
DO YOU LIKE TO BRUSH YOUR TEETH?
Most people don't. They brush thirty seconds or less, while three minutes is your dentist's recommended mouth-health time. Can you imagine a tooth brush that will make you WANT to brush three minutes because the Oral B brush does not HURT? It cleans teeth AND massages, not mangles, your sensitive gums with the gentle action of a tingling shower spray. Don't believe a word of this until you try an Oral B, now the most widely imitated tooth brush. Use it plenty. If you think we haven't told the truth, PLEASE, PLEASE return it to your druggist for every penny you paid for it.

were cited by Mr. Gulick as part of his record. His statement concluded with the comment:

"I feel that over the 18-year period, six years on the board of freeholders, and now completing 12 years on the Township Committee, I have always kept the 'best interest of Princeton Township' as my primary interest."

Mr. Worthington, 40-year old manager of the Princeton University Store, has been active in a number of civic organizations here in the post-war years but is making his first political bid. While an advertising campaign has been conducted on his behalf throughout April, his principal piece of ammunition in the firing was held for release until the primary date neared.

An open letter urging his opponent's defeat, it was signed by one of Mr. Gulick's fellow committeemen, John H. Wallace, Jr., and by two other Republicans who have served on the governing body in recent years. They are B. Franklin Bunn, its chairman for more than a decade, and John A. Stewart, faculty member at Princeton High School.

The letter's text:

"We believe that it is of great importance to the entire Princeton community that the membership of the Township Committee be of the highest possible calibre during the next few years which will be critical ones in the history of this community's local government.

"The choice is to be made at the Primaries on Tuesday, April 21st, for the township normally votes Republican by substantial majorities.

"Based upon our experiences as members of the Township Committee, we heartily endorse Jack Worthington as the more qualified candidate by reason of his education and business training, his interest and leadership evidenced by his fine record of volunteer service to this community, and his progressive and business-like approach to the problems which the Township faces.

"We urge all Republicans to unite in support of the candidacy of Jack Worthington."

Borough Republicans, unopposed for office, either in their own party or by Democrats, are Mayor P. MacKay Sturges; Council President John A. Archer and Walter B. Jefferson. The latter is replacing John W. Stalker, who is not seeking a third term.

Freeholder Edward A. Thorne, Nassau Street druggist, is a candidate for re-election on the Democratic organization ticket and will seek a third consecutive term in November. Two Princeton alumni, Republican Arthur S. Lane '34 and Democrat Sido L. Ridolfi '36, are running unopposed within their parties for State Senator and will battle it out next November.

A well-known Princeton resident is waging a battle against the county Republican candidate for State Committeewoman from Mercer. She is Mrs. Catherine B. Farr (wife of Harry A. Farr, owner of the hardware company bearing his name.)

Mrs. Farr has served on the county committee for more than a quarter century and was active in the organization of the Princeton Republican Club, of which she has long been vice-president. The organization choice (by one vote) was Mrs. Ann P. Bowman of Trenton.

It's New to Us

What's a Skulkum? It's not a small-sized sneak, nor even Indian baby-talk. It's a shoe. And if a sneaker can be a shoe you sneak around in, we see no reason why a skulkum can't be a shoe you skulk around in.

You could, in this shoe, because it has a foam rubber sole an inch and a quarter thick. The top is sailcloth, bright green, red, or blue, stitched moccasin fashion in big white blanket-stitches. There is a high cuff that turns over your ankle-bone, and the whole thing looks like an Apache moccasin.

You buy these at Hulit's, 140 Nassau, and you wear them yachting, or rowing on Carnegie Lake, or walking along the beach. A fine, full cover for a foot that doesn't like to expose itself. Comes in small, medium, large, and extra-large for $2.95.

A wide (four inch) multi-color strap holds a leather scuff to your foot. This is a real sole, leather bound in white, with cushion insole. The price here is $3.95.

Narrower straps hold a true sandal. The sole is foam rubber (but not so thick as the skulkum) and the straps are piqué—either red, black, navy or white. That's all there is—straps and a sole and a pair of buckles. Another sandal with red cords to tie around your foot, has a scene from the Riviera printed on its sole. You'll have to take off your shoe to see this picture; might be a good beach sandal for that reason.

What could be more delightful on a small size six foot than a miniature espadrille? At Hulit's these come in navy or red, up to a child's size three. We think they are irresistable.

If your child can't quite achieve a bow as yet, try the sneaker with a strap, Mary Jane style. The buckle is easy. It's $2.95. "Hop Scotch" is a sneaker with plaid instep and a back in navy or red. There isn't even a buckle to manage here—just a wide elastic strap.

If she's more grown up, she would like a canvas shoe (hard sole) in ballerina style, with a single buckle strap. These come in sizes 12½ to 3, and in mother's sizes, too. All these children's shoes, even this hard-soled one, are washable, and you know what can happen to sneakers in the summer.

Red Hot. Want to be your own short-order cook? The new electric range at Sears Roebuck will start you off. It has an Infra-red burner with a 1,550-watt infra-red bulb under it. Over the bulb is a translucent red glass plate that filters out most of the useless visible light and leaves you with nothing but heat.

With this, you fry bacon in 30 seconds, melt a pat of butter in 15 seconds, steam frozen vegetables in three minutes. Wow!

This calls for some coordination on the part of the cook. No more answering the phone while the bacon fries, or setting the table while the broccoli is cooking. You stay right where you are, or there'll be charcoal for supper. But imagine the convenience on a harried, hurried morning when everybody's late.

The Infra-Ray stove is exactly like the finest Sears electric range. This means that it has, in addition to the one infra-red burner, a cooking well, two electric coils that cook by conduction (infra-red cooks by radiation), a griddle down the middle and a double oven. The new ranges are available now and you may order them at the Sears store, 73 Palmer Square West.

PRINCETONIANS BACK HER

Mrs. Catherine B. Farr

Republicans in Princeton and throughout the county are working in Mrs. Farr's behalf, in the belief that she can give Mercer the type of assistance on the State Committee that will be of greatest benefit to the party.

At the state level, Democrats had their choice of four candidates and Republicans of seven. Advance estimates were that the G.O.P. race lay between the organizational choice, Paul L. Troast, State Turnpike Authority chairman, and State Senator Malcolm S. Forbes of Somerset County. The latter was seeking to repeat the victory over what he termed "boss rule" that had seen him named to the legislature, but his handicap was that two-thirds of the county committees in the state were backing Mr. Troast.

Other Republican hopefuls, little known in Princeton, include State Senator Kenneth C. Hand of Union, Assemblymen Fred S. Shepard of Union; and former mayor Fred F. Richardson of New Brunswick. Only if the two leaders are far short of the backing they claim will one of the others stage a major upset.

Democrats will choose from among Robert B. Meyner, former state senator from Warren County; Elmer H. Wene, unsuccessful gubernatorial and senatorial candidate of recent elections; Alexander Ormsby, Jersey City attorney, and John J. Winberry of Passaic (who is campaigning on the slogan, "The logical candidate is me.")

A resident of the Princeton area, Thorn Lord of Province Line Road, has primary opposition in his bid for re-election to the State Democratic Committee. County chairman here in Mercer, Mr. Lord is not expected to have difficulty in defeating his opponent, Nathan Finkle.

Other political activity:

● Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., former mayor of Princeton and briefly a candidate for governor before his withdrawal, has endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Troast. Dr. Erdman finds Mr. Forbes "a candidate with youth and enthusiasm but without proven administrative experience;" Mr. Troast, on the other hand, "has proven his qualifications to assume the exacting burdens of the governorship by reason of his success as the head of a large private corporation and also by his fine administrative record in an important public position."

● Congressman Charles R. Howell gave his backing to Mr. Meyner: "Elmer Wene is more widely known but has a string of successive losses to his discredit;" Mr. Meyner "is younger, more aggressive . . . and has the courage to deal effectively and forthrightly with the disgraceful crime situation in New Jersey."

Consolidation Notes. A Princeton Township building permit worth $1,300,000 has been issued to the Princeton Shopping Center. Others will follow as work on the project progresses. The fact that the center is nearer a reality than at any time since it was first proposed is lending some grist to the mill for anti-consolidationists, who point out that a major increase in township ratables will accrue to the municipality upon completion of the shopping area.

The Committee for Consolidation congratulated the governing bodies of both Princeton municipalities "on the appointments made by them to the official Joint Consolidation Committee." Through its co-chairmen, Alan Carrick and Richard Chislett, it reported gratification "that men of outstanding caliber have been willing to assume the responsibility of bringing forward the best feasible plan for uniting the borough and township." Assistance in any way possible is offered the new six-man body, which will meet for the first time this Thursday night in Borough Hall.

Parking Lots Urged. Edmund D. Cook has been named head of a Business Association committee to publicize the need for municipal ownership of the three parking lots described here last week. Efforts will be made to inform through personal contact all those affected by the sale and creation of such lots of the need for the action involved.

The association has also announced that Eric Mihan will head the committee for nominating new members to the board of trustees. He will be assisted by Mrs. Thorn Lord, Meyer Goldstein and Louis Verbeyst. The association's next meeting will be held in May, with the election of officers scheduled for June.

Mining Company Attacked. Residents of Montgomery and Hillboro townships are still battling the proposed acquistion of some 3,000 acres in the two municipalities by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company. Rezoning of the area in question—six to ten miles north of Princeton—is being considered, and home-owners there are seeking to block the inroad of heavy industry.

Charles Fontana, chairman of the Hillsboro Community League, charged this week that the company is grossly distorting facts concerning its operations, and withholding information being sought by residents of the area. He declared that the company, which hopes to engage in large quarrying operations in Somerset County, is seeking to "confuse and divide those who seek to protect their homes against defacement and devaluation."

Asserting that confusion does exist among those who are against the company's plans, Mr. Fontana declared that it has refused to provide clear-cut answers to logical questions. Complete information is unavailable, he said, on such matters as the taxes Minnesota Mining would pay, what roads its trucks will travel, how heavy these vehicles will be; what wage scale will prevail, how many men will be on the payroll, how many children will be added to already overcrowded schools, and exactly where the processing plant will be located.

Property-owners hope to block the move and retain the rural-residential nature of the area, which borders on the Sourland Mountains. The governing bodies involved are reported to be interested in the major increase in rateables such a plan would mean to the community in which it is located.

More Inspection Dates. Bicycle inspection dates for four more Princeton schools have been announced by the Safety Committee of the Council of Community Services. They are: Princeton Country Day, this Friday; Valley Road, Monday; Miss Fine's and Mrs. Chapin's, Wednesday. A date for St. Paul's will be set shortly, while high school pupils should file their serial numbers with William Rhodes, assistant principal.

Aiding with the project at Country Day are Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, Mrs. George Stoess and Peter Cook; at Valley Road, Mrs. William Kleinberg, Norman Van Arsdalen, Mrs. Santo Vicino, Jr., Mrs. R. P. Snyder, and Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann.

Motorists are asked to match the cooperation of bicycle riders with the campaign by allowing them to use their own judgment and blowing horns only at safe distances; and leaving their cars through the right hand door. Accidents have occurred when drivers step into the street from the left-hand door.

Guard Seeks Recruits. Young men under 18½ who are interested in fulfilling their military obligations by training with the New Jersey National Guard are invited to learn details from Princeton's Company L. They may visit the Armory on River Road any Monday or Wednesday night. A recruit training program, designed to give basic military education to new members of the company before the August camp period, has been started, Lieutenant Stanley L. Donald, commanding officer, has announced.

Units of the Third Battalion, 114th Infantry Regiment, from Somerville and Trenton trained with Company L last weekend. On Wednesday night, the Princeton Guard unit marched in review with others at the Trenton Armory for Major General Edward C. Rose.

Sale Committee Named. Mrs. George Bowers and Mrs. Edward C. Rose, Jr. are in charge of the spring rummage sale planned for May 7 by the Hospital Aid Committee. A sale of furniture, books and kitchen utensils will be held the preceding day.

IT'S NEW TO US

From the Dutch. The artisans now working in Holland are among the most gifted of contemporary craftsmen. Fine examples of their handcraft are on display (and for sale) at The Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau.

Old Delft reproductions, authentic copies of pieces designed in the 16th and 17th century, occupy a series of shelves in this shop. Lots of Dutch firms use the term "Delft" but this is the real one and the original Delft-mark is on the back of each piece. This firm is the approved maker for the royal family of Holland.

Here are vases and pitchers, jugs and bowls, serving plates and sardine dishes (fish, in profile), and a fruit dish that has a perforated center so that washed fruit can drain into a small cavity in the bottom of the dish. (Why not use the perforations for small-stemmed flowers?).

The color in these pieces is white, the all-over designs are in a blue that has a strong green cast; almost a teal blue. All designs are painted by hand.

Also from Holland, a giant copper coffee urn on a brass stand with an alcohol burner. The urn holds eight cups. In exact replica is a baby one that holds half a pint (no burner). A cafe royale set, also in copper, has a drip pot and brass tray.

We found the big and the little of it again, over in the chafing dish department. Domestic copper, this time, made into the biggest chafing dish you ever saw: four quart capacity, $50 price tag. The pan is aluminum, but the water-pan and lid are copper, the knob and handle are wood. A baby chafer for melted butter, holds half a cup and costs $7.95. They make a fine pair.

A Card or a Book. Some unusual greeting cards are on the tables at the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop, 8 Spring. Elizabeth the Queen, in Kodachrome by Karsch, would be a handsome card to send in honor of the Coronation. Or, for a birthday greeting, try a Horoscope birthday card with some readings from the stars printed inside. Taurus, Leo and the rest are done in the modern manner on the cover.

There are some serious cards that could be used for any occasion. One takes its quotation from the Sanskrit, another uses lines from Fra Giovanni. All done in handsome Old English lettering.

Now that Summer's coming, the Shop suggests that you examine your library for books that need mending or rebinding. A new fabric binding will protect your books from both moisture and vermin. The work can be done while you're away for the summer.

Spring Abundance. More new dresses at Mayme Mead than daffodils in the garden. Here at 188 Nassau, we liked the silk shantungs, some conservative like the black suit, some gay like the black, lined with multicolor stripe that gives a glimpse of itself when you walk. Lime silk has a black knit shrug jacket with self fringe.

On the cotton side, a pink by McMullen with what looks like black lace, but turns out to be print. Another print has tiny chanticleers with purple combs. For very, very dress-up, a beige sheath accordian pleated from neckline to hem.

You'll like the fabric on a sundress with straw belt. It's crinkly material with a chintz-like shine to some of the leaves in the print.

Here's the place to shop if you're hungry: a white print with strawberries in red or blue; a strapless chintz with larger-than-life peaches, bowls of cherries, grapes, lemon slices. And the end result of it all: a white dress printed with slices of pie, dishes of ice-cream, and pieces of cake, each with its calorie count printed beside it. And is this significant? We found it among the larger sizes.

Obituaries

Gordon Hall Gerould, 75, former chairman of Princeton University's English Department, died April 10 in Asheville, N.C. after an extended illness. Husband of the late Katherine Fullerton Gerould, noted short story writer, he is survived by a daughter, a son, two sisters and two brothers.

Professor Gerould, widely known as an authority on fiction, medieval literature and folklore, was one of Woodrow Wilson's original "preceptor guys," the group of 47 young men called to Princeton in 1905 to implement the university's preceptorial method of instruction.

Born in Goffstown, N. H. in 1877, he was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1899. After teaching at Bryn Mawr College, he joined the Princeton faculty and was promoted to the rank of professor in 1916. In 1938 he was named incumbent of the Holmes Professorship of Belle Lettres, Princeton's oldest endowed chair. He devoted his years of retirement largely to a study of Chaucer and recently completed a publication, "Chaucer's Wisdom and Poetic Craft."

Gregory P. Huck, infant son of John P. and Jean Riker Huck, died March 20 in Frankfort, Germany. His father is a civilian employee of the United States Government at Darmstadt. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, grandparents and a maternal great-grandmother. A service was held at Princeton Cemetery.

News of the Theatres

Summer Plans. A tentative date of June 22 has been set for the opening of the University Players' summer season in Murray Theatre. Plans call for at least a six-week season, with the possibility of a two-week extension.

Producer Charles H. Schultz '54 and Director James MacAllen are now in the process of selecting the plays. They will distribute a survey to several hundred residents of Princeton and surrounding areas at the end of this week to obtain an opinion on their present play ideas.

Two weeks are virtually definite: the American premiere of "An Italian Straw Hat," the Eugene Labiche farce, and an evening of one-acters which will include works by Giraudoux, Tennesee Williams and Noel Coward. William Saroyan's comedy with the intriguing title "Happy Birth, Decent Funeral" is another good possibility.

A low price scale has been set in keeping with summer stock tradition, with $2 the top price (for center section on weekends). Murray Theatre will be air-cooled for the season and a large adjoining room will be opened for refreshments and increased lobby space.

Stuart Duncan II, business manager-actor for the University Players of a few seasons ago, will manage the finances for the new group. Sets will be done by Hugh G. Hardy '54, veteran designer for Triangle and Intime.

McCARTER THEATRE

The Vassar Club of Princeton will present Charles Laughton in his program of readings this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter. Tickets at the University Store and the box office for the performance benefitting the club's scholarship fund for girls from the Princeton area.

With only an armful of books and a straight-back chair as props, Mr. Laughton carries off his one-man show by his dramatic recital of assorted readings in poetry and prose. The noted actor is said to have memorized a staggering number of passages and chapters from modern literary classics, the Bible and Shakespeare.

FILM CLASSIC SERIES

Never Give a Sucker an Even Break, one of W. C. Fields' epic performances, will be the fourth in the spring film revival series sponsored by Group Arts. Tickets at the door of 10 McCosh Friday on the University campus for showings at 7 and 9 p.m. Fields "wrote" the film himself (or rather thought up things as he ad libbed along) under the name of Otis Criblecoblis. The title doesn't have too much to do with the film, except that it was one of the great comedian's favorite remarks.

CHILDREN'S SERIES

day, April 23, and an evening performance at 8 on Friday, April 24.

Mrs. Joseph Haight wrote the play and will direct children from the Junior Community Players in the speaking parts, assisted by Mrs. Blackwell Smith. The choreography will be by Mrs. L. Wendell Estey and costumes designed by Mrs. Richard Stoddard are being executed under the direction of Mrs. Robert Dilley and Mrs. Walker Stevenson, Jr.

Mrs. Chester Stroup will be the accompanist. Others associated with the production are: Mrs. Herbert McAneny, production chairman; Thomas Potter, Theodore Bashkow and Mrs. Richard Morgan, scenery; Mrs. Paul Herkart, props; Mrs. John Myer, dressing rooms; Mrs. Erling Dorf, make-up; Peter Van Zandt, lighting; and Mrs. Alan Poole, promotion.

MISS FINE'S SCHOOL

The Dramatic Club of Miss Fine's School is presenting the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Patience" this Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium, with the assistance of students from the University. The production is under the direction of Mrs. Herbert McAneny, with Miss Frances Kleeman in charge of the music.

THEATRE INTIME

Three one-act plays will be staged in Murray Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by the Theatre Intime. Production of "The Drunkard," a moral domestic drama of 19th century fame, is scheduled for nine days beginning April 30.

Next week's bill will include "Craylor Sabbath," a piece about witch-craft in Massachusetts with Etienne Sturhahn, Herndon Werth and Ann Kolbe in the cast; "Woman at the Inn," the story of Americans caught up in a Latin-American revolution, with a cast of Patricia Barr, Wallace Rowe and Helen Hankinson; and "Gordium," a poetical farce featuring Kurth Sprague and Alexander McNally. The respective authors, Wayne Lawson, Roy Cohen and Charles Ringwalt, won first, second and third prizes in the Intime's annual competition.

PROCTOR HALL

The New Art Wind Quintet will conclude the Proctor Hall series with a recital of rarely-heard music this Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Graduate College. The concert, sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, is open to the public without charge.

The Quintet was formed in 1947 by five young musicians and has built a large repertoire of works not usually heard in the concert hall. Sunday's program of both old and new music will include works by Anton Reicha, August Klughardt, Milhaud, Vincent Persichetti and Irving Fine.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Trouble Along the Way (Thurs.-Sat.) provides some good fun in telling a traditional film tale, the rescuing of a small Catholic college from financial straits by the sly maneuvers of a warm and amiable priest (in this case, Charles Coburn). The hiring of John Wayne to build an unbeatable football team and the efforts of probation officials to haul Wayne's daughter into custody are also featured.

Battle Circus (Sun.-Tues.) does not make the grade as an attempt to dramatize the heroism of a medical unit in Korea. Humphrey Bogart plays a vigorous hard-drinking surgeon, employing his rifle and his scalpel about equally. June Allyson is a sweet patriotic young thing, Keenan Wynn, a top sergeant.

Moulin Rouge (Wed.-Thurs.) is a brilliant film about the French artist Henri Toulouse-Lautrec. Against a background of Paris of Buzz Taylor, Princeton track captain, holds the nation's intercollegiate title in his specialty.

Sports in Princeton

Tigers on the Road. Sports-minded Princetonians have rather limited fare on the home front this weekend. A track meet with Columbia, set for Palmer Stadium at 2 o'clock Saturday, is the only varsity event here that lends itself to spectator viewing. The golfers will roam Springdale's greenery in a match against Georgetown; other varsity engagements will find the baseball team at Cornell, the tennis team at Army, the lacrosse team at Johns Hopkins and the freshman, jayvee and varsity crews competing against Columbia and Penn in the annual Childs Cup regatta.

The latter event is scheduled for Saturday morning, an unusual hour occasioned by the tide timetable on the Harlem River. Penn is favored to retain the trophy it won a year ago.

Track Team Has Balance. Having won in the south from North Carolina and Duke, Princeton's well-balanced track team is expected to top Columbia, although the Lions pushed the Orange and Black in the three-way meet with Penn last February. The Tigers lack sure point-getters only in the hurdles in the track events, and are better off in the field events than they have been since the war.

Toby Maxwell's two first places in the mile and two mile, and a pair of firsts in the sprints for Dick Evans paced Princeton's victory over Duke, scored by a margin of 83 2/3 to 47 1/3. The return of Captain Buzz Taylor, national college broad jump champion, to action after recovering from mononeucleosis during the final weeks of the winter will aid the team materially.

Record Set. Having set what is believed to be a mark unmatched in 93 years of baseball at Princeton, the Nassau nine's pitching staff is hopeful of considerably more success in the weeks to come than it had first anticipated. The three straight shutouts and consequent string of 32 scoreless innings last week have not been matched here, according to all available records.

After the game at Lehigh on Tuesday had been rained out, Dick Emery pitched a four-hit whitewash against Penn. Timely blows by John Easton, Bill Gall and Herky Parke accounted for Princeton's 3-0 victory in the non-league affair played on the losers' River Field.

Senior Al Bryant, who had worked just three innings last year, followed up with a one-hitter against C.C.N.Y. He won by the margin of an unearned run, the game's lone marker coming in the eighth. Dick Savage opened with a hit over second, advanced to third on a sacrifice and Easton's infield safety and came home when the second baseman threw wide to the plate on Bill Gall's grounder.

The lone hit off Bryant was a bunt that he and Joe Golden let roll between them in the third inning. Otherwise, C.C.N.Y. could get but five flies out of the infield and had only two runners reach second.

The N.Y.U. game, rained out last Friday, has been rescheduled for next Wednesday. Saturday saw the team prove that it will have to match good pitching with tight fielding and a certain amount of clutch hitting, for the 3-2 loss to Seton Hall was not chargeable to hurling.

Joe Castle, who had shut out Manhattan, 5-0, to start the week, worked the first eight innings for the Tigers. One of the three runs charged to him was the result of sloppy infield work, and 11 Princeton runners were left stranded, seven of them in the first three innings when Seton Hall's Phil Walker looked particularly shaky.

Princeton was held to five hits, only three of them real blows, and gave indication that the weakness that has plagued the team at the plate throughout the post-war years may be with it another season. Every player but Ed Stimpson and Dick Savage left runners stranded one or more times during the game.

The next four or five days will tell much of the team's fate in the 1953 Eastern League race. The Tigers were set to invade Annapolis last Wednesday for a game with Navy, will head for Ithaca to face Cornell Saturday and entertain Columbia on University Field at 4 Tuesday afternoon. They must win at least two of these encounters to stay in the running for the title.

Navy was knocked off by Army last weekend, after first having taken care of Columbia. No team in the circuit appears to have a topflight pitcher of the sort that Dave Sisler, Harry Brightman or Ray Chirurgi were when at their best. Hurling of the caliber that brought three straight shutouts will keep the Tigers in the thick of things if the fielding steadies down and a few lusty base hits ring out from the often silent bats.

Tiger Crew Is Rangy. Dutch Schoch has been hunting this week for a stroke to replace the graduated Ted Ostis, and a number six oar to fill in for John Humphrey, laid low with a siege of the mumps. Filling these positions in the Tiger shell were Gordon Daiger, Jayvee stroke a year ago, and Rod Dayan, who rowed in last year's freshman boat.

Tallest man in the eight Schoch has picked for the season's opener is Brandon Hart, 6-6½ son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart of Lilac Lane. The Tigers are almost as rangy as some of the fabulous outfits from the West Coast: the shortest man among them is 6-2.

A Henley (mile and 5/16ths) is often a difficult distance for a big crew with power to negotiate, and through the years, Penn has had particular ability at this distance. Winning the Childs Cup will be a difficult task for the Tigers, who will have an even tougher assignment on Carnegie next weekend when they race Olympic-champion Navy.

Lacrosse Team Hopeful. Princeton's lacrosse team will learn how far it is going toward the national championship this Saturday when it meets the first of three powerful Maryland outfits. The Nassau ten tackles Johns Hopkins in Baltimore this weekend, and then will entertain Maryland and Navy at University Field on successive Saturdays.

Dartmouth was the Tigers' latest victim, succumbing 16-5 after entering the game with hopes of winning it. The Indians had enjoyed considerable success to date, but had not encountered opposition of the type Princeton offers in this sport. With the exception of Army, the late 1880's, Jose Ferrer portrays the sad, debased life of the dwarf-sized genius who haunted its cafes and bordellos. Adroitly reduced for this role, Ferrer also plays the painter's aristocratic father.

The film shows Lautrec as neurotic, degraded by romance with a streetwalker (played by Colette Marchand), sinking further into alcoholism in an unpretty, honest fashion. Suzanne Flon plays a woman who tries to help Lautrec and Zsa Zsa Gabor is seen as the dancer Jane Avril. Photography in Technicolor and John Huston's superb direction make the film worth its week of playing time, and more.

THE GARDEN

Ivanhoe (Thurs.-Sat.) completes a full week of knights, ladies and high adventure on the spectacle scale. Sir Walter Scott and the film writers share a desire to make life in 12th Century England rather romantic, but the overall effect of the Technicolor pageantry should please most in spite of this defect, the leisurely pace and ham acting.

The cast for the stirring mixture of sieges, jousts and love stories is headed by Robert Taylor in the title role, Joan Fontaine as Rowena, Elizabeth Taylor as Rebecca and George Sanders as de Bois-Guilbert, the antagonist.

The Promoter (Mon.-Wed.) is Alec Guiness at work, which should mean brilliant comedy to those who've seen him operate on the screen before. This time Guiness is a young man bound on making his way in the world and he social climbs with a blithe spirit. Valerie Hobson and Glynis Johns are also in the cast. (Note the shift in playing time at the Garden this week.)

Call Me Madam (Thurs.-Sat.). Ethel Merman hasn't changed much since she was here two weeks ago at the Playhouse in the wonderful Irving Berlin-Lindsay and Crouse musical show. Miss Merman really romps at the head of a cast which includes Donald O'Connor, Vera-Ellen, George Sanders and Billy De Wolfe. Topflight Technicolor and music, too.

no college other than the Orange and Black above the Mason-Dixon Line can compete with the powerhouses built each year in the state of Maryland.

Calling All Softball Teams. All groups in the Princeton community interested in entering teams in the softball leagues sponsored by the Eagles should have their plans in the hands of Joseph Rauch, 34 Spruce Street, before next Thurs-April 23. Play will begin May 11; umpires (who are paid for their services) are also needed and should notify Rauch of their availability. James W. Samuels will again serve as the league's commissioner.

Entries for the two men's leagues include teams to be sponsored by the Eagles, the Nassau Social Club, Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, the National Guard, ETS, AVC and a nine from the Harrison Street Project. Girls' teams already entered are Kings Inn and the Princeton Recreation Center, with more to come.

School Teams Busy. Hun School's baseball team had three games on its schedule for this week: B.M.I. Wednesday, St. Benedict's at Newark Thursday and Princeton High Friday. The Red and Black dropped a 12-1 decision in its opener to George School last week, seven uncarned runs in the first inning doing most of the damage.

The game against Hun will launch the Princeton High season. The Little Tigers' track team will also start its 1953 activities, participating in the Seton Hall relays this Friday and playing host to Hamilton High Wednesday in its first dual meet of the season.

Framing, The Skeleton Of Your House, Should Be Of Top Grade Lumber

The imperfections in lumber of grain separation, decay, holes, knots and mismanufacture weaken its strength. In time, this will mean expensive repair bills.

The use of higher rated lumber in the construction of the average size frame house costs only seventy-five dollars more than lower grade lumber.
If you're planning to build a new house, or simply making minor repairs, stop in. Let us show you the difference in lumber grades.
